Note

Dear Readers,

As the editor of our beloved school magazine, it's my immense pleasure to pen down a few heartfelt words on a day that holds a special place in our hearts – Teachers' Day.

Year after year, our teachers stand not just as educators but as mentors, guides, and sometimes even as friends. They are the architects of our future, tirelessly shaping minds and touching lives. Today, we celebrate their dedication, their patience, and their unwavering commitment to our growth.

Teachers' Day is not just a day to express our gratitude; it's a day to acknowledge the role of teachers in making us who we are. They are the unsung heroes who work behind the scenes, often going beyond their call of duty to ensure we not only learn our lessons but also imbibe values that guide us through life.

In this edition of our magazine, you will find stories of inspiration, interviews with our beloved teachers, and a glimpse into the magical world of teaching. We have also included a special section where students share their fondest memories and lessons learned from their teachers.

As we celebrate this day, let's take a moment to reflect on the impact that teachers have had on our lives. Let's remember the lessons taught, not just in academics but in life. To all the teachers who have laughed with us, cried with us, and believed in us, your influence extends far beyond the classroom walls.

Happy Teachers' Day to all the wonderful educators out there! Your dedication shapes the future, one student at a time. We are forever in your debt.

Warm regards,

Gonca Tarhan

ATATURK

in a musical way

By Tugce KAS
music teacher

Tuğçe KAS and her new songs for Mustafa Kemal Atatürk

: "Mustafa Kemal Atatürk, to whom many titles such as Chief Commander, Head Teacher, and Veteran can be attributed, has taught our nation many sciences and is also its greatest savior. "These compositions, emerging as a reflection of the endless pain and sorrow created in me by the farewell to eternity of the great leader whom we follow on the path he opened and towards the goal he showed, are of course not worthy of our Atatürk.

"I have composed various poets' poems in line with the Atatürk concept with poems and songs and presented them to the appreciation of my teachers and students. I hope I have been able to reflect my feelings to everyone listening and have been able to bring Atatürk's sorrow to life in the souls and eyes of those who listen rightfully. I am very grateful to my literature administrators and teacher friends who provided me with this opportunity. However, I would like to thank my valuable students who have been part of every process: Eylül, Gökçe, Ali, Şahra, Ecem, Yiğit, Sümeyye, Duygu, Burak, Rüya, Berkay, Miray, İpek, Ayşe, and other students whom I could not mention here."

EXPANDING my World

Traveling and happiness ❤️

Title: Expanding My World Through Travel

Travel is more than just moving from one place to another; it's a journey of self-discovery and world expansion. Every step taken outside our familiar territory adds a new chapter to the story of our lives, broadening our perspective and deepening our understanding of the world.

Discovering Diversity

Travel introduces us to the mosaic of global cultures. Each destination has its unique traditions, languages, and customs. By immersing ourselves in these diverse cultures, we not only expand our knowledge but also cultivate a deeper appreciation for humanity's rich tapestry. The experience of witnessing how others live, celebrate, and face challenges offers a renewed perspective on our own lives.

Learning Beyond Books

While academic learning provides a foundation of knowledge, travel brings that knowledge to life. Historical landmarks, natural wonders, and architectural marvels, only truly reveal their stories when we experience them firsthand. Through travel, history is no longer confined to textbook pages; it becomes a tangible, palpable reality. Similarly, the complexities of geography and culture are better understood when experienced in person.

Personal Growth and Adaptability

Travel inherently pushes us out of our comfort zones. Whether it's navigating a city where you don't speak the language or trying unfamiliar foods, these experiences challenge our adaptability and resilience. Overcoming these challenges not only boosts our confidence but also enhances our problem-solving skills. Every unexpected situation or detour becomes a lesson in patience, flexibility, and understanding.

Building Global Connections

Traveling fosters connections that transcend geographical boundaries. It's about the friendships formed with people from different corners of the world and the stories that are shared. These connections often lead to a deeper sense of global citizenship and empathy. Understanding that despite our diverse backgrounds, we share common hopes, dreams, and challenges, is a powerful realization that can redefine our worldview.

beautiful world, continuously learning, growing, and evolving.

THIS BEAUTIFUL WORLD, CONTINUOUSLY LEARNING, GROWING, AND EVOLVING.

Environmental Awareness and Responsibility

Exploring different landscapes and ecosystems also heightens our awareness of the environment. Witnessing the beauty of a coral reef or the majesty of a rainforest instills a sense of responsibility towards preserving these natural wonders. Travel can thus catalyze a commitment to sustainable living and environmental stewardship.

Reflection and Transformation

Perhaps the most profound impact of travel is the internal transformation it fosters. Each journey offers reflective moments where we contemplate our place in the world and the footprint we leave behind. We return not just with souvenirs, but with experiences that shape our beliefs, aspirations, and attitudes towards life.

In conclusion, travel is a powerful tool for expanding our world. It educates us in the most profound way, transforming not just our perceptions of the world but also of ourselves. As St. Augustine aptly put it, "The world is a book, and those who do not travel read only one page." In embracing travel, we open ourselves to reading every chapter of this vast,

HAPPINESS ON THE WAY

By Fatih YILDIZ

Trapped in the vicious circle of daily life, a person cannot get out of this vortex. His soul becomes incapable of fitting into his body, which is gradually compressed, overwhelmed and shrinking. The soul inside its shrinking body wants to expand and overflow out of the space that encompasses it. The way to restore the disturbed balance of soul and body is sometimes to go on a journey. He who does not leave his old place will not be able to discover new places. The effect of new and different places on the human psyche is known. While the body becomes a space for the soul, the outside world becomes a space for both the body and the soul. You can't know what's inside without knowing what's inside. A person who embarks on a new path leaves behind all the impossibilities of his old place and sets out all his possibilities.

Being on the road is happiness itself. Happiness is not a place to be reached at the end of the road, but the path itself. Its place is to build roads. Standing in a constantly moving life, being frozen, inactivity dulls life. Change is inherent in life. In a world where everything changes, it is not compatible with the nature of life to want not to change and not to change. It is possible to change not by staying in one place, but by being on a path. Being on the road does not aim to achieve a goal to a conclusion. Instead of focusing on the result, living the process, instead of being locked into a single idea, the perceptions of different thoughts arising from the rich possibilities both open people to the world and give the world the opportunities to perceive in a more vivid and bright way.

It is not possible for a person to be happy by staying within himself. It is only by encountering other people and other consciousnesses that it emerges from the cell within itself. It completes the process of becoming a human being by recognizing the philosophies, thoughts and cultures of other lands. It is time to walk and pave your own path.

"He who walks knows the way, he who opens it."
